

Two local tech firms receive awards

June 30, 2010

Two local health care technology firms were named Most Promising Life Science companies at the 8th Annual Life Science Venture Forum in Houston on June 22.

Encore Vision of North Richland Hills, which is developing a pharmaceutical compound for use in treating presbyopia, was named one of the top five most promising companies based on its business plan presentation, while MedHab LLC of Mansfield, which has developed a technology affording medical care prescribers (such as orthopedic surgeons and physical therapists) the ability to customize the rehabilitation protocol, was named a top five most promising companies based on their elevator pitch.

Both firms are part of TECH Fort Worth's technology incubator.
